ACADEMIC REGALIA

The pageantry and dress of the academic procession have been inherited from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries.

Academic life, as we know it today, began in the Middle Ages, first in the Church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the guild of the Master of Arts, where Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master and the dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility.

Principal features of academic dress are the gown, the cap and the hood.

Both Cambridge and Oxford, since the fifteenth century, have made academic dress a matter of university control even to its minor details, and have repeatedly revised regulations. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895. In 1932, the American Council on Education presented a revised code which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today.

The Gown: The flowing gown comes from the twelfth century. While it originally may have been worn as protection against the cold of unheated buildings, today it has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress of rank or social standing. It is black for all degrees, with pointed sleeves for the Bachelor's degree, long closed sleeves with a slit at the arm or wrist for the Master's degree, and full bell sleeves for the Doctor's degree. Bachelor's and Master's degree gowns have no trimming. For the Doctor's degree, the gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves, in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

The Cap: When Roman law freed the slave, he won the privilege of wearing a cap. The academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square, to symbolize the book. The color of the tassel denotes the discipline.

The Hood: The hood is trimmed with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the College. The color of the lining designates the college or university from which the degree was granted.
